A PORTUGUESE who works in this city, was about to be discharged recently by his employer. The employee beseeched in a most earnest manner that his services be retained, pleading that he was an orphan, having neither sister nor brothers.

THE "Home News" says that "the King of the Hawaiian Islands has conferred the Companionship of the Royal Order of Kapiolani for merit on Mrs. Cyril Flower, who was on Oct. 30 invested by the Hawaiian Charge d'Affaires with the jewel and insignia of the Order."

TO prevent an incandescent illumination by the action of the rain on a lot of barrels of lime, piled on a vacant lot at the corner of Queen and Alakea streets, Mr. E. B. Thomas set a gang of men to work this morning, and in a short time, had the lime safely housed under a temporary roof of corrugated iron.

THE schooner Emma arrived this morning, eight days from Kanae, with 31 head of cattle, for Mr. Wm. McCandless. The Emma started for Honolulu with 33 head of cattle, but two of them died during the passage. They were, the whole time, without food and had no water, except what they licked off the deck when it rained.

MESSRS. Egan & Co. sold out their entire stock of umbrellas yesterday. The sale of rain proof coats, or as they are also termed, "Mackintoshes" after the name of the first manufacturer of that useful article of wearing apparel for ladies and gentlemen, followed. A few of a very superior quality (London make) still on hand. The rain is not over yet.

CORRECTION.

The name of Mr. Furneaux was inadvertently used yesterday in our article on "The Volcano" for that of Mr. J. Tavernier.

ENTERTAINMENT POSTPONED.

THE LYCEUM.

The Christmas entertainment of the Bethel Union Sunday-school has been postponed sine die by a resolution of the Committee, owing to the inclemency of the weather.

XMAS NUMBER OF THE "DAILY BULLETIN."

THE DAILY BULLETIN will be issued as usual to-morrow afternoon, accompanied by an extra CHRISTMAS SUPPLEMENT, containing an original local story, a reprint story for young people, and Lord Salisbury's Mansion House speech. Anyone wanting extra copies should send in their orders before to-morrow noon.

A NAIL IN A FOOT.

Captain Rust, master of the barkentine Ella, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was stepping off the vessel when he tread, with his whole weight, upon an upright nail. The nail penetrated his shoe, and entered the foot to the depth of about half an inch. When the captain raised his foot, he carried with it the plank to which the nail was fast, and it was with considerable difficulty and pain that the nail was taken out. Two of the Captain's toes are crippled from the effects of the wound, and the whole foot is greatly swollen.

THE LAST OF THE SEASON.

To-night at 7 o'clock, Mr. James Morgan will, at the auction rooms of Messrs. E. P. Adams & Co., for the last time of asking, beseech the public in an outspoken manner to purchase the balance of Xmas goods that he has to dispose of. Purchasers and vender are unanimous in their hopes that it will not rain to-night, and thereby spoil the fun. The goods to be sold comprise fine shawls, silks, Japanese goods, glass and crockery wares.

DEPARTURE OF MR. J. M. OAT.

Our old friend Mort, when about to ascend the steamer's gangway yesterday, said to our reporter, that he appreciated a few jokes that had appeared recently in the DAILY BULLETIN columns. They reminded him of the time he used to get off his innocent jokes, when he first started his bulletin board. Everybody knew Mort, and Mort knew everybody. Stroking his handsome beard, just as he was about to say "good-bye" to the writer, Mort said: "I guess I won't find time to write to you all, but if you look over the Times Siftings or the Arkansas Traveler, it is possible you might drop across an original gook or two from 'yours truly'."

SKIPPED.

A man with the cognomen of Foster, lately bartender at the Empire saloon, skipped by the Australia yesterday, leaving, it is said, many creditors to mourn his departure. Foster was known as the dandy boy with a skating-rink head. He was discharged from the saloon the other day, and being anxious to get away, neglected calling on his friends and bidding them good-bye.

THE TEMPLE OF FASHION.

Notwithstanding the attempted burglary at the Temple of Fashion, the interior of the store is in nowise denuded of its contents. There is still within this spacious store a full assortment of Gents' furnishing goods including every article that is necessary to complete a wardrobe. Mr. Ehrlich and his active and polite assistants are at all times on hand to wait on the public. The Ladies' department appears to contain everything required, but to describe everything baffles the pen of our block-headed scribe, who is a celebrity. It is a notorious fact that the "Temple" is largely patronized by ladies, and is of opinion that the affable Mr. Ehrlich is the source of attraction.

DAILY BULLETIN SUMMARY.

No. 3 NEW SERIES.

The third number of the new series of our Bi-monthly SUMMARY, is now out. It contains 40 columns of purely local and original matter relating to the Islands, and more particularly to Honolulu. For a full and complete record of political, commercial and general news it is unsurpassed.

To residents on the other Islands it is a valuable paper, and also a desirable journal to send to one's friends abroad. The outgoing mail is due here on the 17th instant from Australia, and will leave for San Francisco the same day. The SUMMARY can be had at the DAILY BULLETIN office and at J. H. Soper's News Agency. Price 10 cents per copy.

The recent speeches of Lord Salisbury and Count Kalnoky have caused considerable discussion throughout Europe.
